The James Oncology & Critical Care APP Fellowship at OSUMC

Mission

To provide unsurpassed, learner centered transition to practice for Nurse Practitioner and Physician Assistant Fellows, in order to develop world class leaders in oncology and critical care.

Vision Statement

Working as a multidisciplinary team, we will shape the future of oncology and critical care nurse practitioners and physician assistants by providing excellence in transition to practice that imparts knowledge, clinical expertise, critical thinking, evidence-based practice and research.

Goals

Clinical Practice: APP Fellows will advance their knowledge in providing clinical care for patients through immersion in all aspects of patient care.

Clinical Systems: APP Fellows will develop an understanding of the knowledge, attitudes and skills necessary to navigate an ever changing healthcare system.

Professionalism: APP Fellows will develop knowledge, attitudes and skills necessary to constitute professionalism including respect, cultural sensitivity, accountability, confidentiality, communication, integrity, conflict management, self-awareness and commitment to excellence.

Evidenced-Based Practice: APP Fellows will be immersed in evidence-based practice principles with the goal of delivering high quality care based on the latest evidence.

Interprofessional Collaboration: APP Fellows will be immersed in interprofessional practice that places an emphasis on patient/family centered care, the value and ethics of interprofessional practice, understanding the roles and responsibilities of team members, interprofessional communication, teams and teamwork.

Quality: APP Fellows will learn the process of measuring improvements in areas for which there is evidence the practice will improve health outcomes and value of patient care provided.

Relationship Based Care (RBC): APP fellows will learn the framework of Relationship-Based Care and will strive to create a caring and healing environment for our patients and our staff.
